Azacualpa

That is a different word than we are used to! Azacualpa (a-sa-koo-al-pa) is a town in western Honduras near the Guatemalan border. It lies in the beautiful valley of Cofradía. A pastor from there contacted us recently about the BTC. On my first visit, I spoke with Pastor Garcia and three other pastors about a possible center in their area. Brother Daniel Dyer and I then returned for a visit in September for a meeting with the area pastor's association. We spoke with seven pastors and they were very interested in opening a BTC in Azacualpa. Our projected opening for this new BTC is in January of 2011 with 30-50 students to train for ministry. Please pray in agreement with us for the success of this Center as it will enable the Word to invade another entire area of Honduras; we will then be one step closer to fulfilling the vision the Lord gave us.

Meeting with the Azacualpa Pastor's Association

Rio Viejo Pastors Seminar

In August we had a great opportunity to share the Word of God in Rio Viejo, a town one hour south of La Ceiba on the north coast of Honduras. For two days and three nights Brother Dan and Pastor Gary taught about the Holy Spirit, His person and power. Many were filled with the Spirit and learned how He operates in the life of the believer. About 40 pastors attended along with their leadership.

Coming to be filled with the Spirit
